"A man's [or woman’s] knowledge is like an expanding sphere, the surface corresponding to the boundary between the known and the unknown. As the sphere grows, so does its surface; the more a man [or woman] learns, the more he [she] realizes how much he [she] doesn't know. Hence, the most ignorant man [or woman] thinks he [she] knows it all."

- L. Sprague de Camp

“Lack of preparation on your part does not constitute an emergency on my end.”

- Unknown Origin

This class will introduce you to the sociological and social psychological study of crime. We will explore the most commonly discussed causes of crime in American criminology. We will also examine the motivations for and organization of different criminal offenses and enterprises. Throughout the class, we will look at a range of programs developed largely at the grassroots levels to prevent crime. By the end of the class, you should be equipped to intelligently engage and make sense of the media and political representations of crime.

OFFENSIVE MATERIAL: In learning about crime and deviance you will encounter subjects, language (e.g., curse words in readings, videos and songs), depictions, and attitudes that you may find disturbing or offensive. I have listed the content for each day’s class so that you are generally not caught off guard.

COURSE MATERIALS AND WebCT

All assigned readings are available electronically on the WebCT page for this course. All of these articles are in PDF format, which requires you to use Acrobat Reader (all library computers should have this program) to view these files. If you do not have Acrobat Reader (or have a version less than 7.0—version 9.0 is now available) installed on your home computer and wish to access these articles from home, go to http://www.download.com/Adobe-Reader/3000-2378_4-10000062.html?tag=mncol, click “Download Now” for the program you want and it will be installed on your computer legally and for free.

To access WebCT go to www.cofc.edu and click on “WebCT”. Log on to WebCT using your ID number that CofC has given you and your CougarTrail PIN number (first six digits if it includes more than six digits). I will use WebCT to update you on class events and assignments and you can use WebCT to communicate with me and/or your classmates via e-mail or by posting comments and questions on discussion boards. I recommend that you check WebCT regularly for announcements.
COMMUNICATION DEVICES

When you come to class please be sure to silence your cell phones, two-way text messengers, pagers and other communication devices that might distract you, your classmates, or me. My cell phone will be on vibrate in case there is ever a CougarAlert message.

DISABILITIES

Students with documented disabilities should talk with me personally at the beginning of the semester to make necessary accommodations. I will not make special accommodations during an exam period or after a deadline has passed so you must make arrangements beforehand.

CLASS ATTENDANCE AND PARTICIPATION

The last page of the syllabus outlines how the attendance and participation points will be allocated. I do expect you to attend every class. I will take roll at the beginning of class and if you arrive late after I have taken attendance, it is your responsibility to ensure that you are marked present. If you are absent during seven or more of those roll calls, regardless of whether it is an excused or unexcused absence, you will receive zero attendance and participation points (this amounts to 15% of your grade). If you encounter medical problems during the semester that cause you to have chronic attendance problems, you can contact the Director of Undergraduate Academic Services (953-5674) to arrange a Medical Withdrawal from the class.

This class will have some lecture but a lot of our time will be spent discussing the assigned readings—this cannot be done if you do not read the material before coming to class. Thus, I expect each of you to take an active role in your education. This involves 1) coming to class on time, 2) having read the assigned readings before coming to class and 3) being prepared and willing to participate in class discussion and activities.

Tardiness is one of my pet peeves so please be in a seat by the time class is scheduled to start. If you have a long distance to travel between classes and expect that you will frequently be late, talk with me. Otherwise, buying coffee, oversleeping, finishing a cigarette or chatting with a friend are not legitimate reasons for being late to class. If you miss a class in which we have a graded in-class exercise or a video, you will not be able to make up the assignment or borrow the video (some videos may be available in the library’s media collection—most are my own personal copies) regardless of the reason for your absence. If you must leave class early, please sit in a seat nearest the door so as to minimize the disruption when you leave.

STUDENT HONOR CODE

Lying, cheating, attempted cheating, and plagiarism are violations of our Honor Code that, when identified, are investigated. Each instance is examined to determine the degree of deception involved.

Cases of suspected academic dishonesty will be reported directly to the Dean of Students. A student found responsible for academic dishonesty will receive a XF in the course, indicating failure of the course due to academic dishonesty. This grade will appear on the student’s transcript for two years after which the student may petition for the X to be expunged. The student may also be placed on disciplinary probation, suspended (temporary removal) or expelled (permanent removal) from the College by the Honor Board.

It is important for students to remember that unauthorized collaboration—working together without permission-- is a form of cheating. Unless a professor specifies that students can work together on an assignment and/or test, no collaboration is permitted. Other forms of cheating include possessing or using an unauthorized study aid (such as a PDA), copying from another’s exam, fabricating data, and giving unauthorized assistance.

Remember, research conducted and/or papers written for other classes cannot be used in whole or in part for any assignment in this class without obtaining prior permission from the professor.

EXAMS

We will have a midterm and a final exam based on the assigned readings, lecture, class discussions and videos. The format for each exam will be determined as we get closer to exam time. The final exam will be cumulative covering material from the entire semester.

EXAM MAKEUP POLICY

The exam dates are clearly listed on the syllabus and you should be prepared to take the exams on those days. However, life often hits us with unforeseen situations. Makeup exams will only be offered if: 1) you are in the hospital or visiting a doctor because you are ill, 2) there has been a death in the family, or 3) you have been involved in an auto accident. These are three legitimate reasons to miss an exam. Barring a serious injury, you must make arrangements with me prior to the scheduled exam period in order to be granted a make-up exam. Make-up exams will consist entirely of short-answer and essay questions and must be completed the week following the scheduled exam.

EXTRA CREDIT FIELD TRIPS

I will schedule several field trips during the semester. The field trips will not be mandatory but you can receive extra credit for attending and writing up a brief analysis of your experiences. A maximum of 3% of extra credit can be completed for this class and these percentage points will be added to your final percentage in the class. Please see the “Extra Credit” link on WebCT for specific details about each field trip opportunity.

FINAL LETTER GRADES

Your final grade will be calculated by adding your participation and attendance points to your scores on the two exams. I will then divide that total by 260 to calculate your total percentage in the class. Any extra credit that you complete will be added to that final percentage and will serve as the basis for your letter grade which will be assigned according to the table below. WebCT will be set up to make these calculations throughout the semester and you can check your progress at any time (go to WebCT and click on “My Grades”).

NOTE: I do not round grades up. Thus, if your final point total is 89.9% at the end of the semester, you will receive a “B+”. Extra credit assignments will not be given to individual students after the last day of class or after your final grade has been calculated.

CLASS SCHEDULE

Please read the assigned readings prior to the class session in which we cover them. We might fall behind at times but we will generally adhere to this schedule. You are still responsible for material that is not explicitly discussed in class.
